Dr Thorsten Bischof

Thorsten advises on all energy law issues with a focus on renewable energies and grid regulation. He draws specific attention on the legal implementation of innovative energy concepts such as green hydrogen and energy storage solutions.

Previously, Thorsten was a policy advisor to the federal government entrusted with amending and implementing German national climate action law and greenhouse gas emissions trading systems. He incorporates his hands-on experience in drafting and negotiating legislative amendments, as well as in cooperating with various federal and state authorities as well as EU institutions into his everyday work.

He advises in German and English.
